

Maria Dourou-Eliopoulou

Professor in the Department of History and Archeology.

She teaches Western Medieval History (5th -15th century), as well as seminars about the presence and the activities of the Latins in Romania (ex-byzantine empire) and the eastern Mediterranean during the period of the crusades. She has published several articles concerning that matter.