

Professor Hagen Fleischer teaches Contemporary History at the University of Athens (since September 2011 as emeritus).

Fleischer has written more than 100 scholarly publications, mostly on contemporary Greek History and the World War II era and its legacy. Most recent book (in Greek): The Wars of Memory: WW II in Public History [4th edition: Athens 2012]. For more titles see the selective list in the Greek version of this link.

Other activities included participation in: 'International Commission of Historians' inquiring into Austrian president Kurt Waldheim, 1987/88; Greek delegation to 'Washington Conference on Holocaust-Era Assets' (State Department 1998); Scientific Committee to ["new"] Exhibition on Wehrmacht Crimes (2001-2004). In April 2010 he visited with 17 Greek students numerous 'sites of memory' from WW II and Nazi terror in Germany. This resulted in a documentary repeatedly shown in Greek (national) TV. Prof. Fleischer earned his PhD in History and Mass Media at Free University Berlin.
